

LOVE.DIST@NCE project mid-term meeting in Barcelona

Universidade de Vigo attended between the 4th and the 7th of July 2022 the intermediate meeting of the European project CBHE LoveDistance, organized by the partners of the Fundación Universitaria Iberoamericana (FUNIBER) and hosted by University of Barcelona's IL-3 Lifelong Learning Institute.

The meeting welcomed all the project partners from the following countries: Israel (Ono Academic College, Levinsky College of Education and MEITAL Inter-University e-Learning Centre), Georgia (State Universities of Ilia, Telavi and Batumi Shota Rustaveli), Portugal (Polytechnic Institute of Porto), Spain (University of Vigo and FUNIBER, the host of the event) and Romania (Technical University of Cluj-Napoca).

The Erasmus+ CBHE LoveDistance project aims to improve the access to and the quality of higher education in Israel and Georgia through the support offered to disadvantaged students from these two countries and, during the meeting, attendees had constructive discussions on the best ways to achieve the project's objectives. During their stay, participants also had the opportunity to get to know Barcelona's @22 technology district.

In addition, during the event sessions, the UVigo team involved in the project and led by Professor Anxo Manuel Sánchez Bermúdez, local project coordinator at UVigo, offered their support and recommendations in the project management follow-up sessions, in addition to talking about their experience in managing European projects in the last two years marked by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The participants also discussed issues related to the quality and dissemination of the project, as well as future lines of work, including monitoring visits to the partner universities in Israel and Georgia, and organized activities that fostered their collaboration and joint interaction around online education.
